John U. Monro: Uncommon Educator (Hardback)

By Toni-Lee Capossela

Louisiana State University Press, United States, 2013. Hardback. Book Condition: New. 231 x 142 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. In 1967, John U. Monro, dean of the college at Harvard, left his twenty-year administrative career at that prestigious university for a teaching position at Miles College -- an unaccredited historically black college on the outskirts of Birmingham, Alabama. This unconventional move was a natural continuation of Monro's life-long commitment to equal opportunity in education. A champion of the underprivileged, Monro embodied both the virtues of the Greatest Generation and the idealism of the civil rights era. His teaching career spanned more than four decades, and, as biographer Toni-Lee Capossela demonstrates, his influence reached well beyond his lifetime. In addition to being a talented administrator, Monro was a World War II veteran, a crusading journalist, a civil rights proponent, and a spokesman for the fledgling Peace Corps. His dedication to social justice outlasted the fervor of the 1960s and fueled bold initiatives in higher education. While at Harvard he developed a financial aid formula that became the national template for needs-based scholarships and earned him the title The Father of Modern Financial Aid. During his decade at Miles...

Reviews

A must buy book if you need to adding benefit. It really is written in easy terms instead of difficult to understand. I found out this ebook from my dad and I advised this publication to find out.

This is basically the finest publication I actually have gone through till now. We have read and I also am confident that I am going to likely to read through again once more in the foreseeable future. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.
