Vanderbilt University Quarterly A Record of University Life and Work VoL XIV JULY-SEPTEMBER No. 3 VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY AND THE CHURCH. In a previous issue of the Quarterly was printed a careful analysis of the attitude of the General Conference of 1914 toward Vanderbilt University and of the action taken by that Conference with reference to its relations with the Board of Trust. It is proper that we should now follow that up with an examination of the status resulting from that legislation and the consequent action of the Board. In the news department of this number will be found a report of the recent annual session of the Board of Trust, together with the papers adopted bearing on the action of the Conference and the future course of the University. The conclusion of the Board that the General Conference by its official action had severed the relations hitherto existing between it and the University was reached upon legal advice--advice that was also indorsed by all the lawyers who are members of the Board. About one-fourth of the Boards membership is made up of able and distinguished representatives of the legal profession. The counsel of these gentlemen on this and on other occasions has naturally served to guide the judgment of their associates in dealing with the legal questions raised by the events of recent years. The Board has experienced no surprise to have the judgment of these men vindicated by the courts. The reasons leading...
