In response to a congressional request, GAO examined trade with South Africa, specifically: (1) changes over the past 5 years; (2) changes in public and private credit availability; and (3) the status of U. S. disinvestment from South Africa. GAO found that: (1) most of South Africa's trade was with the United States, the United Kingdom, West Germany, France, Italy, and Japan; (2) in 1986, these nations provided 79 percent of South Africa's 8.2 billion in imports and markets for 78 percent of its 12.4 billion in exports; (3) South Africa's total world trade decreased from 5.6 billion in 1982 to 5.2 billion in 1987, while its imports decreased significantly, from about 6.4 billion to about 4.4 billion; (4) the United States and the United Kingdom decreased their shares of imports and exports, while Japan increased its share; (5) most of South Africa's approximately 23 billion in foreign debt was short term and lent to private sector borrowers; (6) international banks held 16.12 billion of the debt, while the rest was in bond issues...
