I could not endure it another minute. I went over and said good night to my hostess who had spoken to me only once since my arrival. Drowsy as I was, I noticed she seemed surprised. Oh, no, I told her; I am not ill, only very sleepy. How good my pillow felt! The next morning Tom was cross. I had made a faux pas. I had shown I was bored and peeved and had gone to bed before the hostess indicated it was bedtime. It was n t done in England. What do you do if you can t keep awake? I asked. You slip out quietly, go to your room ask a maid to call you after you have had forty winks, then you go back and pretend you are having a good time, said Tom. There were some bitter hours after we got back to London. But Tom won, and I promised to get a companion. Then there came into my life the most wonderful of friends. She was the widow of a British Army officer who had been killed in India, and her only child was dead. She was a woman of education and heart; she understood my needs, all of them, and I interested her. She had seen great suffering; she had a deep feeling for humanity and an honest desire to be of use in the world. In the English register my companion was listed as the Honorable Evelyn, but we quickly got down to Mary and Eve. We loved each other. Eve went to France with us a few months later. She made me...
